"I COME, THE HERALD OF A NOISY WORLD, THE NEWS OF ALL NATIONS LUMBERING AT MY BACK"

HARTFORD, OHIO COUNTY, KENTUCKY, APRIL 25, 1877.

I am far from thee to-night, mother, Far from my childhood's home, But still I think of thee, mother, Although from thee I roam.

In distant lands to roam, But none I find so dear to me As my old sunny home.

Or when I'm in distress, And when the fover burns my brow I miss thy fond caress.

There is none to soothe my aching head, Or to consule me now. Affections claims have bound me mother,

So closely round thy heart, That I cannot forget that love, The we be far spart. Five long years have passed away,

When I am sad and 'lone. Oft in dreams I see thee, methor, And my heart rebounds with joy.

But alse! we have been parted, And God knows the bitter pain, When the thought comes to me, mother,

If I never great thee, mother, I will strive in heaven to meet thee,

That we may never meet again.
